

Paathshaala 720p In Hindi Dubbed Movie. Paathshaala is the story of a young, rebellious teacher who arrives at a remote, rural school to take up his first teaching post and notices that the boys and girls all study in separate classrooms and there's no interaction between them. He sets about trying to break down their misconceptions of each other – but the children do not respond as expected. The film explores an unsuspecting but powerful change, which will ultimately enable these young people to find empathy for those who are different from themselves. The movie shows how teachers can sometimes be unaware of some situations around them and they should try more than just talking with the students to understand what is going on. The film also shows how an anonymous teacher makes a positive impact on the students in this remote village. This film is based on a novel written by Vikas Dwivedi. In the year of 1991, Rajiv Rai Bhatnagar (Shahrukh Khan) is a teacher with a few years of teaching experience in a school in a village in Haryana. He is new to the place with no friends or acquaintance, and he has only one class to teach before he will be transferred to another school, where they teach English. His subject is Social Studies and he does not know the local language. Rajiv has a very good rapport with his students, but he is at a loss when they ask him to teach them English. In this small town, everyone knows about Rajiv's arrival, including the headmaster of the school. He calls Rajiv to his office and tries to get him to step down from his post because it is too difficult for him in the village school. But Rajiv refuses to give up so easily and tries harder each day. The headmaster decides, without informing Rajiv, that he will use a student who knows English well as his interpreter so he can still meet the deadline. The selected student in this case is Anand (Rajat Pathak). The headmaster in this film is trying to prove that he has taken care of Rajiv's problem. This makes Rajiv even more determined to teach the students English on his own. One day, when he goes out to stroll around the town, Rajiv meets one of his students who brings five friends along with him. They tell him that they come here every day at this time because they want to learn English and be like him. After school hours, when the students leave their school, Rajiv spends time playing cricket with them and talking about cricket statistics. During this time, he learns that few of them can actually speak English. This makes him realize the importance of correct education in this remote village. It is apparent that students are not motivated to learn because they are not inspired by their teachers. They are mostly discouraged by the lack of motivation of teachers due to the indifferent attitude towards them. Rajiv sets out his aim of making these young people understand each other and set up a system where both boys and girls get equal opportunities in the school. He eventually succeeds in this regard with some help from Anand, who begins to translate English conversations between Rajiv and these students for his classmates so they can understand what he is talking about.
